Testing User Stories

First time visitor goals,

As a first-time visitor, I want to easily understand the purpose of the project from the moment I get to the landing page.

    a.   Upon reaching the home page, users are greeted with a large hero image and a jumbotron with clean and visible text to tell them the purpose of the project.

    b.   Below the hero image is also a small description about the faith, relating to the heading and text in the jumbotron.

As a first-time visitor, I want to easily be able to navigate, can I get back to the home page quickly, when I reach the bottom of a page is there some way to move forward without scrolling back up.

    a.   Users can use the navigation bar at the top of the page to navigate to different pages of the project. The navigation bar is always visible when first landing on any page.

    b.   Users can use the navigation bar at the bottom of the page to navigate the website when they reach the bottom of the page to move on to the next page they wish to view.

    c.   Users can use the link on the left of the navigation bar which always links back to the home page.

As a first-time visitor, I want everything I am reading be reinforced or supported in some way, quotes, stories, or images.

      a.   Users will find a constant use of images through the project on every page. Images are related to the topic being discussed. Hero image on every page, used to stand out and capture the user's attention. Small images related to the content.

      b.   Uses of quotes used on home page, used in a different and larger font to stand out. All quotes have sources and if from text, have the page number linked or a name.

Naam Japna: Remembrance and meditation of God

The concept of Naam Japna is very simple, by constantly thinking about God's virtues such as love and kindness Sikhs can better develop a feeling of love and kindness for humanity. Being able to see the presence of God in everyone allows the Sikh to better appreciate others and helps to prevent the thought of hurting others. Naam is given the highest priority in the Sikh faith.

"With my hands I do God's work; with my tongue I sing God's glorious praises. With my feet, I walk on the path of my Lord and Master." ((1))
— Guru Granth Sahib Ji, 189

Photo: Sean Robertson/Unsplash

Vand Chakna: Sharing wealth with those who are in need

Just as Sikhs remember God; they will also realize they are apart of a human brotherhood. This realization would naturally encourage Sikhs to help and share their wealth with those who are less fortunate. The sharing must be done without any motive of gain but as a sense of responsibility.

"They give and give, but ask a thousand-fold more, and hope that the world will honor them."
— Guru Granth Sahib Ji, 446

Photo: Gian Carlo Delsante/Pixabay

As a first-time visitor, I want to feel as though I am progressing through the page and not feel overwhelmed or lost.

  a. Paragraphs are kept short and floats are used to help condense the paragraph sizes to give the impression reading progression is being made faster.
  b. Used quotes and horizontal dividers to help users understand where they are on a page.
  c. Page content is condensed at larger resolutions to add space on either side to help user only have to focus on the middle of there screen and feel like there is less to read, and less likely to be confused.
  d. Pages are full width on tablets, but the use of floats are still present to help reduce the size of paragraphs.

As a first-time visitor, I want the project to not become to exhausting to look at.

  a. A black background is given to the whole project to give the impression the project is in dark mode.
  b. The black background is used to help reduce eye strain.
  c. Having the project feel dark, further emphasises its importance, feels more formal.
  d. A darker background makes it easier for the user to stay more focused.
  e. A dark background helps user with lower visibility or to help those who may be sensitive to bright light.
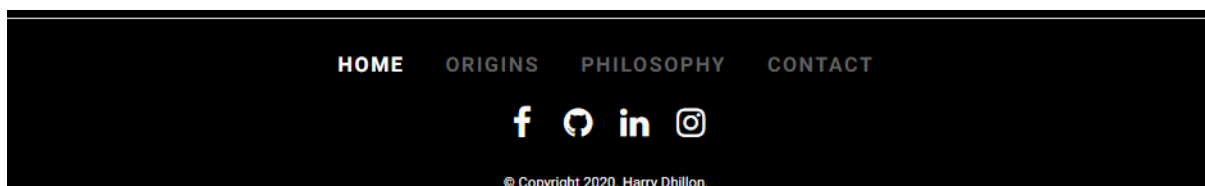

As a first-time visitor, I want to be able to pick up from where I left off, can the structure of a page be in a way where the I can simply just carry on if I took a break ?

  a. The project has a constant use of headings and horizontal dividers to help break to the text up into different subject matters. Helps the user to be able to stop reading one section and continue reading the next section.

Returning visitor goals,

As a returning visitor, I want to be able to get in contact with the creator or creators in some way, social links or contact page.

  a. Footer contains links to the relevant social media links being shown, Facebook, GitHub, Instagram, and LinkedIn.
  b. Contact page has a form that users can use to send a message to the creator.
    a. Currently the form acts as a placeholder and does not actually send a message.
    b. Form has required elements to make sure the user has input text into the text area.

HOME ORIGINS PHILOSOPHY CONTACT

As a returning visitor, I want to be able to cite the information or find out where the original source of the information came from.

       a.   Each quote has a source from either the individual or page number from the text.
       b.   Each image has a source directly underneath with a name and location.
       c.   Citations section added to the bottom of the origins and philosophy pages for further citation for users.